

Celebration Vision Goals

Pre-commit to how you'll celebrate — before the win happens.

Pre-commit to how you will celebrate each milestone in your search — before the win happens. Writing the reward in advance converts the motivation system from "waiting for payoff" to "already anticipating it," which makes search-milestones land as events rather than noise. Five examples from the session, then three blanks for your own.

FIVE EXAMPLES FROM THE SESSION

I will celebrate reconnecting with an old colleague in the next 7 days by _____

I will celebrate making 3 strong LinkedIn contacts in 30 days by _____

I will take a break for a day from online job search and relax in 10 days by _____

I am already in a job I love and celebrating my 90 days by _____

I am in awe of my life and have noticed that in 6 months I have _____

THREE OF YOUR OWN

Pattern: "I will celebrate [milestone] in the next [timeframe] by [specific reward]."

1 _____

2 _____

3 _____

PAIRED SHARE-OUT STRUCTURE

Run this with a search buddy, a coach, or any peer willing to hold five minutes:

1. Five minutes total — switch after 90 seconds
2. Each person shares one specific Celebration Vision Goal
3. State the reward out loud; naming it in a witnessed way is the accountability mechanism

Example: "I will celebrate reconnecting with an old colleague in the next 7 days by treating myself to an in-person movie (or ice cream, or a hike)."